

The Phoenix

Volume 1

Number 4-1

This publication, dedicated to Rovers, Venturers, Rangers and their Leaders, was compiled from material submitted by people concerned with the above programmes, or from material that I personally found and considered to be of value to members of those programmes. This publication has NO connection with any official governing body in Scouting/Guiding

Help Wanted

Are you interested in being a part of this new forum for expressing ideas that will help Rovers, Venturers and Rangers? I need material to help create a real “WEBZINE” that will be more than just my own ideas. I know that information about upcoming events is important to you, but what else would you like to see here?

How about sending me some articles that YOU consider important. I also need somebody to help scour the net and other sources for information about events, training courses and the like, photographers for the many activities, people to report on activities in provinces other than Ontario, feature writers and anyone else who would like to help get this “show on the road”.

If you would like to help make this a REAL information forum, contact me at: canadian\_rovers@hotmail.com and I'll get back to you as soon as possible.

SNOW MOOT 2004

February 20-22, 2004

Mount Nemo Scout Camp—Burlington, Ontario

Prepping the food for Saturday's pig roast.

Some of the staff preparing the main lodge for action.

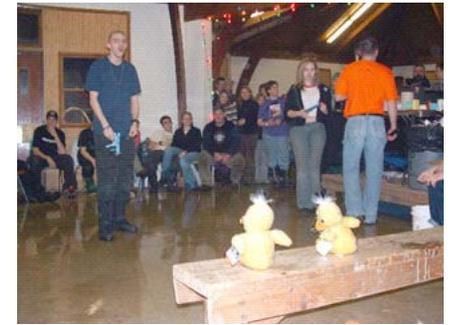

So, where's the action?

OK, it's going to take 20 hours to roast this pig for Saturday's supper. Let's get at it!

Friday night's mixer games begin. Heh, heh, heh!!!!

This is like shooting fish.....er, ducks in a barrel.....or is that on a fence?

We'll shave these balloons as smooth as a baby's behind.

I'm not sure WHAT this game is, but I get to stuff my face.

More shots of the fun during Friday's mixer activities.

Opening Ceremonies — Midnight Friday

When the Olympic Rings burned down, there was still a nice afterglow.

Saturday morning—the games begin.

Now remember, if you can't find where the activities are, ask any staff member — they'll be happy to get you lost....er, on the right track.

Any last minute questions? OK, get out there and have fun.

Trash Ball at it's very finest.

In Scouts they call this game the Nuclear Reactor.

This WILL eventually become a snowman, honest!

Have YOU ever tried to ride a bike while blindfolded????

OK, OK. I know it's cold out here, but they said everybody has to take their clothes off so we can tie everything into a long string — THAT'S what the stupid rules say.
